

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE Historical Notes here printed for the use of the Officers of the Public Record Department are private notes, taken many years since for the purpose of assisting the Compiler in his duties in arranging the papers in the State Paper Office, at a time when there were in that Office but few works of reference, and no indices in existence full enough to answer his necessities.

Those who are acquainted with the early State Papers will clearly understand the difficulties attending their proper chronological arrangement, for the undated papers are very numerous, and the dates are only to be ascertained from the internal evidence of the documents. This being the case, the necessity of some easy means of reference to historical events must be manifest: for example, if in an undated paper mention of a circumstance which occurred at the time of an English Ambassador being in a particular country or at a place named, and if we had the means of referring to the name of the Ambassador, and see when he was at the said place, it seems probable that this very often would give a clue to the date. It is important in such cases to have notes of the movements of an Ambassador; for example:—Richard Pace, Ambassador at Rome, returning to England, 10 April 1522. Instructions for him to go to Venice Aug. 1522. His letter from Boulogne on his way to Venice 15 Aug. 1522. His letters from Venice Sept. 1522, &c., &c. Pace's mission to Duke of Milan. See Duke of Milan's letter, 29 Aug. 1523, &c. His instructions to treat with Bourbon 1524, &c., &c.

However, under the circumstances in which the Compiler found himself, he considered that by going through the history of England from the time the papers at the State Paper Office commence, and by taking very full notes and throwing them under heads, he should be enabled to lay the foundation of such a book of reference as he required, and then from time to time inserting such useful notes as came to hand, whether from other printed works or from manuscripts, he should build up the work so as to make it a means of instant reference, and it was arranged in reigns (except some notes from Scottish and Irish history) in order to give him materials quicker to work upon, as he had greatly to deal with papers arranged in reigns. Before, however, he had time to examine the manuscripts of many reigns and otherwise to complete the same to the extent proposed, the Government thought proper to remove him from the Historical to the Legal Department of the Public Archives, in order to assist the Master of the Rolls, Lord Langdale, in winding up the confused affairs of the late Record Commissioners, and to lay the foundation of the present Government Establishment of the Public Records. In the course of the development of the latter, the Government directed the State Paper Office to be consolidated with the Public Record Office. As soon as this was accomplished, the present Master of the Rolls, Sir John Romilly, felt anxious to make known to the public the valuable contents of the State Paper Division, and explained to the Government his views and what means he required to put them into operation; and which having been acceded to, no time was lost in engaging Editors to prepare the Calendars (which may be described as short abstracts of the papers) for press; and among the various means proposed for facilitating the work it was suggested that it would be of great assistance to place a copy of these Historical Notes in the hands of each officer engaged; and the Master of the Rolls having drawn the attention of the Treasury to the subject, their Lordships directed them to be printed as the cheapest mode of producing the number of copies required; and the notes accordingly appear much in the same state as they were formed, without the remotest idea that they would ever be printed, and are now published under the special directions of the Government, rather than at the wish of the Compiler.

And here it may be remarked, that if the Notes are sometimes found not to be in strict keeping one part with another as to style, it is to be observed that they were not all compiled day by day; months, nay, years, in some cases, intervened between the time of taking one note before the next in chronological order was added; the whole work was compiled from so many different sources, and probably in each case the style used in the authority may have had its influence, and sometimes the very words used may have been taken out as a note. It was of little consequence for the Compiler's purpose so as the facts were intelligible, as they were only formed for his private use.

It may be found to be of some assistance to call the attention of those who shall use these Notes to two or three points; and first to the very different names by which sometimes the same person was designated, and the various ways of spelling his name; such a fact being known in respect of one man may relieve persons consulting the State Papers from much perplexity, and keep them on the alert as to other similar cases; for they find it announced, for example, in one paper that an Ambassador styled Mons. de la Souch was coming to England from the Regent of Flanders; in another paper, about the same time, it is announced that Mons. Lassaux was coming: this might cause some perplexity; it might not readily be understood that the same person was meant, the names being so differently spelt.

One or two examples will serve to explain my meaning as follows:

Among the notes taken from MSS. the reader will frequently find the dates placed between brackets, which signifies that there is no date to the paper from which the note was taken, and that the date so placed between brackets has been assigned to it by the person who arranged the papers, after proper consideration, but circumstances are sometimes so conflicting that too great reliance must not always be placed on such dates.

It came under the Compiler's observation in going through portions of the State Papers, that numbers of errors had been committed in placing papers in the wrong years from the circumstance of the persons arranging or using the papers not duly considering that the time of commencing the year on 1st of January and the Gregorian Calendar was not adopted in England until 1752, so that the papers, say, for sake of example, those between 1st of January and 25th of March 1546, have been placed as if they were dated according to our present computation, whereas most persons using State Papers understand that such dates, if reduced to our present style, would be 1547, which makes one whole year difference in arrangement. This leads to the point to which it is necessary to allude, namely:—Many of the Notes are taken from the catalogues of the Cottonian and other collections, and the Compiler, fearing lest any similar mistakes to those he has alluded to may have been made, has frequently placed a note of interrogation before the date in references occurring in the months of January, February, and March, as a matter of caution.

In the foreign correspondence very considerable difficulty may arise if the style used be not properly ascertained. It is reasonable to suppose that the English Ambassadors abroad would use the English style; but that was not always the case; they sometimes used the style of the country in which they were; and the same man (as if to increase the perplexity) would sometimes use the style of his own country, and at others that of the country to which he was accredited. These facts will explain the reason why it is occasionally pointed out in the Notes what style an Ambassador used. The reader is referred to page 331 of this work, under the head of Wingfield, 1517, fourth paragraph, as illustrative of the above.

From 1582 (when Pope Gregory reformed the Calendar) another difficulty occurs in dating, to ascertain whether the Gregorian or English style was used in the foreign papers.

The effect of two English Ambassadors using different styles would be this,—one Ambassador dates his letter 12 June, Gregorian style, another dates his letter, English style, 6 June 1596; the consequence would be in the chronological arrangement of the papers that the paper dated 12 June would be placed six days after that of 6 June—whereas if it were known that the first used the Gregorian and the latter the English style, it is manifest the first would be placed in the chronological arrangement four days before instead of six days after to bring both to the same style. It was the intention of the Compiler to pursue this subject as far as circumstances would permit in order to obtain correct chronology, but for the reasons already stated his labours in this respect were brought to a close before he could fully realize his intentions.

It cannot fail to be observed of what importance the Compiler considered the proper arrangement of papers, or he would not have voluntarily undertaken so much labour in order to provide the best means that occurred to him to effect his object; and this principle he carried with him (after he left the State Paper Office) to the legal side of the public archives, where he soon commenced the consideration of a general principle of arrangement of the Public Records, and the results of which appear in his Handbook to the Public Records, and where, in the preface, page xxix., it is stated, “sorting and arranging ought to be the primary object." And it was not without a view to a means of a better arrangement of State Papers, that, in his History of the State Paper Office, page 14, the Compiler suggested the propriety of the Government causing to be formed, in all departments, libraries, &c. where access could be obtained, Calendars of all existing State Papers, the same to be incorporated with proper references in the Calendars forming in the State Paper Office. If this could have been done we should in many cases have obtained abstracts from the original papers, with dates, whereas the drafts only in many cases exist, without date, in the State Paper Office.

As these Notes may fall into the hands of some who are not well informed on the subject, they are referred to the work called "L'Art de Vérifier les Dates," where, in the beginning of the first volume, they will find a "Dissertation on Dates," from which Sir Harris Nicolas has translated and printed some useful notes on the subject in an octavo volume, called "The Chronology of History," p.p. 34-48, published by Messrs. Longman and Co.

The work is arranged in the following order :—

I. Notes from English History alphabetically and chronologically arranged in reigns commencing Henry VIII. to the end of the reign of Queen Anne, with manuscript additions.

II. Notes from Scottish History, with manuscript additions.

1. Notes from Maitland's History of Scotland from 1500 to Death of James V. of Scotland and accession of his daughter Mary, December 1542. A separate arrangement.

2. Notes from Scottish History, Henry VIII., Edward VI., Mary, and Elizabeth consolidated.

III. Notes from Irish History alphabetically and chronologically arranged, with manuscript additions.

1. Henry VIII., Edward VI., and Mary are consolidated,

2. Elizabeth a separate alphabetical arrangement.

3. James I. a separate alphabetical arrangement.

At the end of these Irish Notes it is intended to place certain Notes in which an attempt has been made to show in a tabular form the four provinces of Connaught, Leinster, Munster, and Ulster divided into counties, and showing the names of the ancient districts, out of which the counties were formed, the septs anciently inhabiting the same, the chief towns and places, baronies, chief lakes and rivers, and mountains.

The Irish Tabular Notes here described were formed from Ware's Antiquities, Cox, Beaufort's Memoir of a Map of Ireland, Topographical Dictionary, &c. ; and were intended as a groundwork to be illustrated (perhaps corrected) from the manuscripts of the State Paper Office, as Notes useful to the future historian of the Septs (or Clans of Ireland).

BOURBON, L. CARDINAL DE:

His letter from Paris 24 July 1527. (Vit. B. ix. 137.)

BOURBON, DUKE OF, (CONSTABLE OF FRANCE):

1516. Francis I. dates a letter to Bourbon from Lyons as Constable of France and Lieutenant-General de là les Mons 23 March (1515-6).

In the beginning of 1516 Francis left Bourbon, his lieutenant in the Milanese (Universal History, 36, p. 440, Florence.)

1521. He received the Constable's sword the first year of Francis I. Louisa of Savoy, mother of Francis I., wished to have him for her husband, but his feigning not to understand her made her his enemy; hence the many mortifications he received from Francis I. The first mortification mentioned in history was when, in 1521, the King commanding in person, gave the conduct of the van to the Duke of Alençon, contrary to the prerogative of office of Constable.

1522. Proposals from Henry VIII. to Emperor to enter into negotiations with Bourbon. See instructions to Boleyn and Dr. Sampson Dec. 1522. (Germ. Cal.) But as to this date of Dec. see SAMPSON, DR. RICHARD.

1523. Louisa of Savoy commenced a suit against him for his whole estate. These are some of the causes which threw him into the arms of the Emperor. It is difficult to know when the negotiation between him and the Emperor began; but a Flemish lord, the Count de Rœux, was the negotiator; and the treaty was advanced in 1523, 17 May, this being the date of the commission by Henry VIII. to Richard Sampson and Richard Jerningham to treat with Bourbon, although the name is blank. (Rapin, i. 733. 754.)

Commander of the Imperialists. Takes the field with 35,000 men in Italy; forces Admiral Bonnivet to repossess the mountains. Begins his march 24 June with 13,000 foot and 3,000 horse, and enters Provence 2 July 1524. Takes Aix, besieges Marseilles, raises the Siege of Marseilles 10 Sept. 1524, and retires into Italy. The French army, by another rout (under Francis I. in person), arrives same time in Italy. The French enter the city of Milan, and besiege Pavia, in Nov. 1524. (Rapin, i. 759.)

1524 cont.—Ch. de Lannoy had the command in Lombardy during Bourbon's absence in France. See Lannoy's letter 15 June 1524. (Vit. B. vi. 75.)

1525. Marches from Germany, end of Jan. 1524–5, and defeats and takes prisoner Francis I. at Pavia, on the eve of St. Matthias, (the eve being the 23 Feb. 1524–5.) (Rapin, i. 759.) Preparing to go to Spain. See 13 July 1525. (Vit. B. vii. 177.)

Goes to Spain to take care of his concerns 1525. (Rapin, i. 761.)

1526. Leaves Toledo for Barcelona on 13 Feb. 1525–6, there to embark for Italy. (Letters to King and Council, iii. 15.) Returns to Milan 1526. (Rapin, i. 767.)

1527. Storms city of Rome; slain 6 May 1527. (Anderson's Geneal. p. 628.)

BULLEN, } ANN: BOLEYN, }

Daughter of Thomas Boleyn; born 1507; carried into France when 7 years old, in 1514, when the sister of Henry VIII. went to France to be married to Lewis XII. After death of Lewis XII. his Queen married Duke of Suffolk, and returned to England, and Anne Bullen was left in France, entering the service of Queen Claude of France, though then only eight years of age. Camden affirms she was retained in France up to the death of Queen Claude, which happened in July 1524. Two French authors affirm that Anne came over to England in 1522. Lord Herbert, without citing any author, says the same thing, saying, as it appears in history, and that she was in the service of Duchess of Alençon, after death of Queen Claude. Some affirm that her father brought her to England when he returned from his embassy, 1527. If this latter be true, the King commenced his divorce before he fell love in with Anne, unless she really came over in 1522, and he then fell in love with her. It passes for certain she became Maid of Honour to Catherine in 1527. (Rapin, i. 775.)

Goes to France with Princess Mary, Queen of Lewis XII., Oct. 1514. (Rapin, i. 729, note.)

She stayed behind in the French Court after the Queen married the Duke of Suffolk, 1515. (Rapin, i. 730, note.)

Had lived at the French Court ever since her going over with Mary, sister of Henry VIII. and wife of Lewis XII. ; returns to England 1522. (Rapin, i. 750, and see the note for other authorities.)

CRANMER, DR. THOMAS:

Bred up at Jesus College, Cambridge, (not at Oxford, as Rapin by mistake says,) and commenced Dr. in 1523. (Rapin, i. 785, note.)

1529. The King full of trouble touching his divorce makes a progress through several counties, and meets at Waltham Dr. Cranmer, who there had charge of two sons of a gentleman, 1529.

Dr. Cranmer being asked his opinion concerning the divorce by Fox and Gardiner, declared that he thought the better way to extricate the King out of his difficulties would be for him to propound the question to all the universities in Europe; the King, pleased with the expedient, ordered Cranmer to follow the Court, declaring "that he had got the right sow by the ear." It may be noticed here, that Cranmer had travelled in Germany, and had read Luther's works, and embraced his doctrine with moderation; and laid the first foundation of the Reformation in England. (Rapin, i. 785.)

1529. Sent with the Ambassadors to the Pope and Emperor whom they found at Bologna 1529 or 1529–30. (Rapin, i. 787.)

DIVORCE OF HENRY VIII. FROM CATHERINE OF ARRAGON :

Rumours of it in Spain in July 1527. (Rapin, I. 773.)

It appears that Grammont Bishop of Tarbe, Ambassador from France to England, beginning of 1527, in the treaties which he signed in England 30 April 1527, in which Francis I. or his son Duke of Orleans was to have married the Princess Mary, daughter of Henry and Catherine, had scrupled the legitimacy of the Princess. (See Rapin, I. 773.)

It appears also the Council of Spain (Charles V. having been affianced to Mary) did scruple the legitimacy of Mary, as the marriage between Henry VIII and Catherine was against the law of God. (Rapin, I. 775.)

1527. Dr. Knight, Secretary of State, sent to Rome in July 1527, touching the divorce. The Pope was at this time prisoner, the matter was therefore delayed. After the Pope had escaped Knight and Cassali pressed him to sign the instruments, which were four :—1. Commission for Cardinal Wolsey to try the affair ; 2. Bull decretal declaring the marriage void ; 3. The dispensation to marry again ; 4. The Pope to promise never to repeal the foregoing Acts. 23 Dec. 1527, the Pope, after much entreaty, signed the commission to Wolsey and the dispensation to the King, promising to send the Bull decretal to null the marriage into England; but dated the two instruments from the time he was prisoner. The King seeing this, did not think fit to use them. (Rapin, i. 775. 778. See Titus, C. x. 73.)

1528. The Bulls of 1527 having been dated from the time the Pope was prisoner, Henry VIII. demands new Bulls. The Pope advises him to proceed upon the commission already sent. Gardiner and Fox sent to demand new Bulls; they arrive with the Pope 2 March 1527-8. (Rapin, i. 780.) On 13 April 1528 the Pope signed a Bull, appointing Cardinal Wolsey judge of the cause jointly with Archbishop of Canterbury, or some other English prelate. Dr. Fox returns to England beginning of May, but Gardiner went to Rome to Campegio. The Pope, having been required by Henry VIII., appointed 6 June 1528 Cardinal Wolsey and Lorenzo Campegio (Cardinal Bishop of Salisbury) as his Legates à Latere, committing to them his whole authority in the affair of the divorce. The Pope gave Campegio a decretal nulling the King's marriage. Campegio arrives in England in Oct., six or seven months after he was appointed Legate. Delays of the Pope. Henry sends Sir Francis Brian and Peter Vannes to discover the true cause of the delay. (Rapin, i. 780. 781.)

1529. The Emperor protests in Queen Catherine's name against whatever may be done in England in the affair of the divorce (she having excepted against the two Legates) 15 May 1529. (Rapin, i. 783.)

Henry VIII. having a long while suffered himself to be amused by the Pope, at length on 31 May 1529 grants licence to the Legates Wolsey and Campegio to execute the Pope's commission (however imperfect it was). Campegio delays the affair as much as possible. Wolsey, though the senior Cardinal, allows Campegio to preside, to show that he intended to act with impartiality. The King and Queen cited to appear before the Legates 18 June 1529. The Queen appears on 18 June and excepted against the Legates.

The King and Queen appear in person on 21 June; the Queen, without saying anything to the Legates, appeals to the King, left the Court, and never more appeared. It seems that the Queen appeared twice, first on 18 June without the King, the second time on 21 June with the King. The place appointed for hearing the cause was a great hall in Blackfriars in London, commonly called the Parliament Chamber. (Rapin, i. 783. 784, and note.)

The Pope signs a Bull of advocacy 15 July 1529 in which Henry was cited to appear at Rome in forty days; Campegio revoked. (Rapin, i. 784.)

The King in his trouble about the divorce in 1529, makes a progress and meets with Dr. Cranmer at Waltham, who advises him to consult the various universities of Europe. The idea so well pleased the King that Cranmer was ordered to follow the Court, and he afterwards laid the foundation of the Reformation. (Rapin, i. 785.)

1529—cont. Henry VIII. about 1529 sends able and learned men to the foreign universities concerning the divorce, most of them in favour of Henry VIII. See the names of those who were sent to the different universities. (Rapin, I. 787, note.)

The embassy sent by Henry VIII. to Pope at Bologna about latter end of 1529, was Thomas Bulleyn Earl of Wiltshire and Ormond, accompanied by John Stokesley Elect Bishop of London, and Edw. Lee. (Rapin, I. 787.)

1531. The King resolves to have his cause tried by the Parliament and convocation. The Parliament met 6 Jan. 1530-1.

1532. The Pope about 1531-2 declares to the English agents he should be obliged to cite Henry VIII. to Rome. Henry, having notice of this, sent Dr. Edward Karne and Dr. Bonner as Excusators, where they arrived in March 1531-2. The Pope, in a consistory the 8th July, without examining the King's reasons for not appearing in person, resolves he should be entreated to send a proxy to Rome to defend his cause. The King sends answer and certain proposals by Sir Thomas Elliott 1532.

1533. Convocation of Canterbury decide the divorce for the King 5 April 1533. Do. of York, 13 May 1533. (Rapin, I. 798.)

Queen Catherine cited to appear at Dunstable, where she resided, May 1533; declared contumacious. Archbishop pronounces sentence declaring the marriage null 23 May. Another sentence 28 May confirmed the King's marriage with Ann Bulleyn; and on 1 June the new Queen was crowned. (Rapin, I. 798.)

The Pope's sentence against Henry, declaring his marriage with Catherine good, and commanding him to take her again, 23 March 1533-4. (Rapin, I. 800.)

Act abolishing papal authority in consequence of the above. (Rapin, I. 801.)

He was declared by the States King of Bohemia in Dec. 1526. (L'Art de Vérifier les Dates.)

Crowned at Prague 24 Feb. 1526-7.

Mem. Charles I. succeeded his father as King of Bohemia 1346, and was Emperor. He explained to the Bohemians that the election of a King belonged to them only when there was no son or daughter of the Royal family, and by his Bull d'or confirmed the electorate right to the Kings of Bohemia. On 10 Feb. 1364 made a pact of confraternity with the Dukes of Austria for their mutual successions. Therefore Ferdinand, Brother of Charles V., claimed in his own right by the above compact, and also in right of his wife, in 1526, but the States nevertheless would proceed to an election, and elected him, and forced him to recognize that he had been voluntarily elected; this they cancelled in 1545, and also in 1548, and the succession again became hereditary. (L'Art de Vérifier les Dates, 472. 479. 480.)

By the death of Lewis II. the King of Hungary laid claim to the kingdom of Hungary in right of his wife, sister of Lewis II. He and John de Tapol Wayvode, of Transilvania, were both elected by different parties. John put himself under the protection of Solymán, who caused him to be crowned at Buda 1526, and Ferdinand prepared to prosecute his right. (Rapin, i. 768.)

HORSE GUARDS :

Besides the band of fifty archers instituted by Henry VII. to attend on him, fifty horse guards were raised by Henry VIII. 1509, of which the Earl of Essex was Captain, and Sir John Peachy Lieutenant. Each of these horse guards had an archer, a demi-lance, and a custrell or coustillier, or a kind of ambactus or servant, besides three great horses for his own use ; it grew to a considerable number; their horses were trapped in cloth of gold, silver, or goldsmiths' work ; the expense was so great that it could not continue after the rate it began; or whether it raised some jealousy in the people, it was dissolved at last, and came to nothing. (Herbert, 9.)

HUME, LORD ALEXANDER:

Suspected to have killed Jac. IV. at the battle of Flodden 9 Sept. 1513. (Rapin, i. 725.)

Hume, Alexander, President of the Marches bordering on England during the life of Jac. IV. He had committed such outrages on the borders, as some say, for fear of being called to account for it, killed Jac. IV. as he was retiring from Flodden, 9 Sept. 1513. (Rapin, i. 729.)

Proposes Duke of Albany as Regent, who is elected, 1514. (Rapin, i. 729.)

Looked on with an evil eye by Albany on his arrival in May 1515. The Bishop of Murray having prejudiced him in the Regent's mind, Hume, to revenge himself, plots to send the young King to England. Flies into England upon the plot being discovered together with his brother William 1515. Returns to Scotland 1515. (Rapin, i. 733.)

Summoned to appear before the Parliament of Scotland; refuses; condemned for default. Albany raises 10,000 troops against him. Hume submits, and is given into custody to Earl of Arran. Hume persuades Arran to escape with him, and claim the Regency. Albany takes Hamilton Castle. Hume destroys Dunbar 1516. (Rapin, i. 735.)

After divers pardons, beheaded, and his brother William, 1517. (Rapin, i. 737.)

INDIES (WEST):

The Royal Spanish Council of the Indies was first established in 1511, and brought into a more perfect form by Charles V. in 1524. It has the supreme government of all the Spanish dominions in America. All laws and ordinances relative to the government and police of the colonies originate there, and must be approved of by two thirds of the members before they are issued in the name of the king. To it each person employed in America from the viceroy downwards is accountable. This council is held in the place where the king resides, as he is always supposed to be present. The decisions of the Board of Trade of Spain are subject to the review of this council. (Robertson's America, Book viii. p. 12 to 14.)

1503. Margaret (sister to Henry VIII.) was married to James IV. of Scotland in 1503. (Anderson's Genealogies.)

1513. } Becomes Regent of Scotland by the will of the King, who 1514. } was killed at Flodden, 9 Sept. 1513. Acknowledged as Regent by the States, which met beginning of 1514.
(Rapin, i. 729.)

Marries Earl of Angus, and loses the Regency, 1514, the Duke of Albany being chosen Regent ; but Albany did not arrive in Scotland before May 1515. (Rapin, i. 729.)

1515. Flies to England ; delivered of a daughter called Margaret at Harbottle Castle 7 Oct. 1515. She staid in England about a year ; but her husband Angus returned to Scotland. (Rapin, i. 733.)

1522. Henry VIII. sends Clarenceux Herald to Albany in Scotland, accusing him of an intention of procuring the divorce of Margaret, and to marry her himself, and to usurp the crown of Scotland. Margaret owns that it was with her advice that the Duke of Albany was recalled to Scotland, adding that she should not have had occasion to seek the protection of a stranger had he not been so unkind a brother. Denies the report respecting her and Albany 1521-2. (Rapin, i. 750.)

It appears she was offended with Angus for leaving her when she came to England at Harbottle, and at the love he bore to a certain Scotch lady. (Rapin, i. 750, note 1.)

She alleged at Rome that she heard her husband was living three years after Flodden Field. Her marriage therefore with Angus was not legal.

1523. Henry VIII. her brother endeavours to have her made Regent 1523. (Rapin, i. 757.)

1524. With Earl of Arran, advises the young King (not fourteen) to assume the government. States summoned 29 July 1524. The authority of the Regent declared at an end. The Queen and Arran rule in the King's name. Angus returns from France, and, in conjunction with Earls of Lenox and Argyle, obtain possession of the King, and the three Earls become joint Regents, each to rule four months. Angus begins 1524. (Rapin, i. 759.)

1528. Her marriage with Angus annulled at Rome 11 March 1526-7. (Scotch Cal.) And married to Henry Stewart in 1527, who was created Lord Methuen, 7 July 1528. (Maitland, p. 795.)

MARGARET (Daughter of Earl of Angus and Queen of Scots):

1509. In possession of Lewis XII. of France at the accession of Henry VIII. 1509. (Rapin, i. 705.)

1510. 12,000 Switzers under Bishop of Sion make an attempt on the Milanese 1510; obliged to retire. (Rapin, i. 709.)

1511. The Council of Pisa removed there 1511. (Rapin, i. 712.)

Chaumont, Governor, was dead, 1511. (Rapin, i. 711.)

[? Was Triulzi, who succeeded Chaumont, 1511, in the command of the French army, Governor of Milan.]

Gaston de Foix, nephew of Lewis XII., Governor of Milan, 1511. The Switzers approach to the very gates of Milan, then retire to their own country. They began their march towards Milan Nov. 1511. (Rapin, i. 712.)

1512. The Governor (Gaston de Foix Duke of Nemours) killed at the battle of Ravenna 11 April 1512. (Rapin, i. 716.) Palisse took the command of the French.

La Palisse retires from the Milanese in order to return to France; the towns of the Milanese surrender to the Switzers and Venetians, except Parma, Placentia, and Reggio, which last three surrendered to the Pope, 1512. (Rapin, i. 716.)

Maximilian Sforza, eldest son of Lodovico the Moor, restored to Milan, Dec. 1512. (Rapin, i. 716. 717.)

MILAN—continued.

1513. The French again possess themselves of the Milanese and Genoa, except Como and Novarra. Maximilian Sforza quits his capital and retires among the Switzers. The French again driven out of the Milanese, and Sforza again takes possession, about July 1513. The French had arrived in Italy in June and possessed themselves of the Milanese, except Como and Novarra, which latter place they stormed, but the garrison sallied out and defeated them; thus the French won and lost the Milanese in a month. Sforza however did not get possession of the castles of Cremona and Milan till the end of the year 1513. (Rapin, i. 720. 721.)
1515. League between Duke of Milan (Sforza), Emperor, King of Arragon, and Switzers, 1515. (Rapin, i. 730.)

- Francis returns from Milan, having repassed the Alps, beginning of Jan. 1515-6. (Univ. Hist. xxvi. 272.)
- Francesco Sforza, brother of Maximilian, assumes the title of Duke of Milan upon his brother resigning his right to the King of France, 1515. Sends an embassy to Henry VIII. 1515. (Rapin, i. 732.)
1516. Francis Sforza Duke of Bari to Henry VIII., thanks for his support. Trent, 18 April, 11 May, 1516. (Vit. B. iii. 25. 30 b.)
- Francis Sforza, Duke of Bari (Duke of Milan), his credentials to England in favour of Argellensis, 17 May 1516. (Vit. B. xix. 78.)
- Duke of Bari to Cardinal Wolsey, promising to perform what Pace promised in his name, 23 May 1516. (Vit. B. xix. 81.)
- Lautrec, the commander of the French army, retires from the siege of Brescia with the Venetians to Milan, followed by the troops of the Emperor, who threaten Milan, but suddenly retire by reason of the discontent of the Switzers. (Rapin, i. 734.) See Pace's letter. Conduct of the Emperor 24-28 June 1516. (Vit. B. xix. 157. 162.)
1521. League between the Emperor and Pope to drive the French out of the Milanese. The French lost nearly the whole of the Milanese 1521. (Rapin, i. 745. 746.)
- Lescun commands at Milan in absence of his brother Lautrec, who returns, 1521. (Rapin, i. 746.)
- Letter of Charles V. to Queen Catherine of England touching the entry of the Imperial army into Milan. See 21 Nov. 1521. (Germ. Cal.)
1522. Prosper Colonna, receiving no supplies from Rome or the Emperor, disbands most of his troops but what was absolutely necessary for defence of Milan, 1522. (Rapin, i. 752.)
- Francis I. had nothing left in Italy but the castles of Milan and Cremona. Prosper Colonna, having defeated Lautrec at Bicocca, obliged him to repass the mountains, 1522. (Rapin, i. 752.)
1523. The castle was surrendered by the French 14 April 1523. (Rapin, i. 754.)

MILAN—continued.

1523—cont. Prosper Colonna, who commanded in Milan, died 1523, and Lanoy Viceroy of Naples took the command of the Imperialists, till he was superseded by Bourbon, end of 1523. (Rapin, i. 755.)

1524. The Imperialists under Duke of Bourbon force Admiral Bonnivet the French Commissioner to repass the Alps, and Cremona and the whole of the places the French held in the Milanese surrender to the Imperialists, 1524. (Rapin, i. 758.)

Commenced in Lincolnshire under Dr. Mackerel Prior of Barlings, under the name of Captain Cobler, beginning of Oct. 1536; Duke of Suffolk sent against them 7 Oct. 1536. (Rapin, i. 814, note 8.) It appears to have broken out earlier than this, for that of Yorkshire broke out end of Aug., and this did not happen till that of Lincolnshire had commenced. (Rapin, i. 815.)

REBELLION—continued.

The malcontents having received no redress of their grievances, again rose in 1537; Nic. Musgrave and Tho. Tilby put themselves at the head of 8,000 malcontents, and appeared before Carlisle; repulsed and attacked by Duke of Norfolk, who entirely routed them; Musgrave escaped; Tilby and seventy others were hanged on the walls of Carlisle. These attempts rendered the King so fierce, that Ask, who before had been commanded to Court, was put to death, as well as Lord D'Arcy, who had been before committed to the Tower. (Rapin, i. 817.)

A new rebellion in Yorkshire April 1541; soon suppressed. (Rapin, i. 830, note 2.)

Margaret, sister of Henry VIII. and Queen of Jac. IV. of Scotland, becomes Regent by the will of the King, who was killed at Flodden 9 Sept. 1513, and acknowledged by the Statutes of Scotland, beginning of 1514. (Rapin, i. 729.)

Margaret marries Earl of Angus, and loses the Regency, 1514. Duke of Albany being chosen, but did not arrive in Scotland till May 1515. (Rapin, i. 729.)

Albany returns to Scotland 30 Oct. 1521, and leaves Scotland for France end of Oct. 1522. (Rapin, i. 749. 750.)

Albany leaves Scotland and returns to France May 1524. The Queen Dowager and Earl of Arran advise the young King (not fourteen) to assume the Government. He summons the States 29 July 1524, and declares the authority of the Regent at an end. The Queen Dowager and Arran rule in his name. Angus returns from France, and, in conjunction with Earls of Lennox and Argyll, gets possession of the King, and the three Earls become joint Regents, each ruling four months. Angus begins 1524. (Rapin, i. 759.) When the time came for Angus to resign he refused. (Rapin, i. 765.)

Cardinal Beaton Archbishop of St. Andrew's forges a will of James V., wherein he was appointed Regent (James V. having died 14 Dec. 1542), with three counsellors or assistants, of whom the Earl of Arran was one. The Parliament of Scotland meets in March 1542-3, and declares the Earl of Arran Regent. (Rapin, i. 835.)

See ALBANY.

REGENT OF SPAIN:

Alphonso Bishop of Saragossa (natural son of King of Arragon), assumes the Regency of Arragon, according to the will of the King of Arragon, Feb. 1516-7, and, by the same authority, Cardinal Ximenes assumes that of Castile, but Adrian Florentio Doctor in Divinity produced Letters Patent for that office. Ximenes refused to acknowledge him. The matter compounded, and they become joint Regents. (Rapin, i. 734.)

The King of Spain leaves the Low Countries in Aug. 1517, and dismisses Ximenes, who died with grief. (Rapin, i. 736.)

Charles leaves Spain. Appoints Adrian Florentio Bishop of Tortosa and the Constable of Castile Governors in his absence. (Rapin, i. 743.)

Charles comes to Dover 26 May, and leaves Canterbury for Low Countries 30 May 1520. (Rapin, i. 742.)

Adrian Florentio Bishop of Tortosa chosen Pope Jan. 1521-2. (Rapin, i. 751.)

SCOTLAND:

JAMES IV.

Brother-in-law to Henry VIII., James having married Henry's sister in 1503. (Herbert, 10.)

Bishop of Murray sent to England to congratulate Henry VIII. on his accession, and to renew or confirm the treaties. (Rapin, i. 704.) (Act Pub. xiii. 257.)

1511. The King of Scots sends Ambassadors to claim the two ships belonging to Breton or Barton, taken by the two sons of the Earl of Surrey 1511; refused, Breton being considered a pirate. (Rapin, i. 710.)

1512. Treaty between King of Scots and France against Henry VIII. 22 May 1512. (Rapin, i. 718.)

Ambassadors sent from England to Scotland to sound the King's intentions, (the Lord Dacre of Greistock and Dr. Nicolas West,) 15 April 1512. (Rapin, i. 718.) (Rymer, xiii. 332. 333. 347.)

James IV. sends a fleet to France under colour of presenting it to Anne Queen of Lewis XII. 1512. (Rapin, i. 718.)

1513. King of Scots calls a Parliament; makes war upon England; sends a herald announcing it to Henry VIII. in France; the letter is dated 26 July 1513. Answer of Henry VIII. King of Scots enters Northumberland 22 Aug., and takes several places, particularly Norham Castle. Earl of Surrey offers battle on 4 Sept., which was accepted for following Friday; the English, however, did not appear to the appointment. Battle of Flodden 9 Sept. 1513; King of Scots killed; his body never found; supposed to be found by the English. (Rapin, i. 724.)

Hall affirms that Lord Dacres found Jac. IV., and that the body was buried in Schene monastery. (Rapin, i. 725, note.)

The Pope granted Henry VIII. liberty to bury the body. (Rymer, xiii. 385.) (Rapin, i. 725.) Licence to Henry VIII. to bury the body of Jac. IV. in St. Paul's Cathedral 29 Nov. 1513. (Vit. B. ii. 54.)

JAMES V.

1513. Became King 1513.

1514. By death of Jac. IV. Margaret his Queen, sister of Henry VIII., becomes Regent by the will of the King, being acknowledged as such by the States, which met beginning of 1514. (Rapin, i. 729.)

Margaret marries Earl of Angus and loses the Regency 1514, Duke of Albany being chosen Regent at the suggestion of Alexander Hume, but Albany did not arrive in Scotland till May 1515. (Rapin, i. 729.)

1515. Alexander Duke of Albany arrived in Scotland May 1515; before his arrival Henry VIII., under colour that Scotland had been some time without a Regent, had taken the title of "Protector of Scotland," and had demanded of the Pope the ecclesiastical preferments of Scotland which he bestowed on his creatures; Albany complained of this to the Pope 3 July. (Rymer, xiii. 513.)
- Bishop of Murray having prejudiced the Regent against Alexander Hume, he is looked on with an evil eye at Court, who, to be revenged, plots to carry off the young King to England; plot discovered, and Hume, &c. fly to England, and were quickly followed by the Queen and her husband the Earl of Angus; the Queen was delivered, 7 Oct. 1515, of a daughter called Margaret; the Queen staid in England about a year, but the Earl of Angus returned to Scotland. (Rapin, i. 733.)
1516. Henry VIII. desires Scots to send Ambassadors May 1516. (Rapin, i. 735.) (Rymer, xiii. 549.)
- Truce concluded between England and Scotland at London 1 June 1516. (Rapin, i. 735.) (Rymer, xiii. 566.)
- This truce was prolonged at Westminster 31 Dec. 1516 to 27 Dec. 1517. (Rapin, i. 736.) (Rymer, xiii. 574–577.)
- Henry VIII. tries to have Albany removed; refused. See answer of the Parliament of Scotland 3 July 1516. (Rapin, i. 735.) (Rymer, xiii. 550.)
- Albany levies 10,000 men to chastise Hume, who submits, and is given in custody to Earl of Arran. Hume persuades Arran to escape with him and claim the Regency. Albany takes Hamilton Castle, Hume destroys Dunbar, 1516. (Rapin, i. 735.)
- Francis de la Fayette sent to England, and truce prolonged, 1516. See above.
1517. Alexander and William Hume, after divers pardons, at last beheaded; Albany takes a journey to France 1517, promising to return in a few months. (Rapin, i. 737.)
1518. } A private treaty between Henry VIII. and King of France
1519. } to detain Albany in France [? 1518 or 1519]. (Rapin, i. 742.)
1520. Chancellor of Scotland My Lord of Glasgow 1520. (Rymer, xiii. 727. 728.)
- Archibald Douglas Earl of Angus, one of those left by Albany to govern in his absence, constrained by the Hamiltonians to relinquish his post, 1520; defends himself against the Hamiltonians in Edinburgh, with four score men; drives 1,000 of his enemies out of Edinburgh. Angus receives into his party the friends of the two Humes beheaded by Albany. The truce between Scotland and England prolonged from St. Andrews 30 Nov. to 1 Jan. 1520–1. (Rymer, xiii. 727–733.)
1521. Truce with England prolonged from 1 Jan. 1520–1 to 9 April 1521, and three months longer, provided the Scottish Ambassadors set forward to England to make peace. (Rymer, xiii. 736. 737.) (Rapin, i. 743.)
- Truce prolonged from 9 April to 1 June 1521; an officer, &c. to be sent for a longer truce. (Rymer, xiii. 744. 745.)

1521.—cont. The differences between England and Scotland referred to the arbitration of Louisa of Savoy, mother of Francis I., 1520 (Rapin, I. 743), and the Cardinal of York. (Wolsey.)

Albany arrives in Scotland 30 Oct. 1521 after four years' absence; one of his first acts was to oblige Angus to quit Scotland, who went to France. (Rapin, I. 749.)

1522. Henry VIII. sends Clarenceaux, Herald, to upbraid Albany, and to accuse him of returning to Scotland to marry Margaret Queen Dowager, wife of Angus, and to deprive the young King of the Crown, 1522 [1521-2]. (Rapin, I. 749. 750.)

Albany denies the charges that he intended to put away his wife, and that he endeavours to procure the divorce of Margaret Queen Dowager, wife of Angus, in order to marry her himself and to usurp the Crown of Scotland. The States also deny the charges 1522, Feb. 1521-2. (Rapin, I. 749. 750.) (Rymer, XIII. 761.) Feb. 11.

Lord Dacres, Warden of West Marches, sent with 500 men into Scotland to proclaim on the borders that if the Scots made not peace with England by such a time, 1 March 1521-2, it should be to their peril. (Rapin, I. 750.)

In Oct. 1522 Albany raises an army to make an inroad into England; on his coming to the borders is deserted by many of the Lords, upon which Albany proposes a truce, which the English accepted. Albany returns to France about end of Oct. 1522. (Rapin, I. 750.)

1523. Earl of Surrey invades Scotland and takes all the castles in Merch and Teviotdale 1523. (Rapin, I. 757.)

Henry VIII. endeavours to have the Regency conferred on his sister Margaret 1523. (Rapin, I. 757.)

Earl of Surrey retires and puts his men into winter quarters. The Scots make inroads on the borders of England. Surrey obliged a second time to March into Scotland, where he became master of Jedburgh. Albany arrives in Scotland 24 Sept. 1523, the same day that Surrey took Jedburgh. (Rapin, I. 757.)

Albany attacks the borders 22 Oct. 1523, and meets the same obstacles that stopped him last year. The officers, &c. refuse to march into England. Albany assaults Werk Castle; repulsed. Retires on approach of Earl of Surrey. Both armies go into winter quarters about middle of Nov. 1523. (Rapin, I. 757.)

1524. Albany returns to France May 1524. The Queen Dowager and the Earl of Arran advise the King (not yet fourteen years old) to assume the Government. He summons the States 29 July 1524, and declares the authority of the Regent ended. The Queen and Earl of Arran, however, ruled in his name. The Earl of Lenox and Argyle send for the Earl of Angus from France. Upon pretence of freeing the King they levy troops and take Stirling. March to Edinburgh, where the King is delivered to the three Lords, who assume the title of Regents, to rule in turns, four months each. The Earl of Angus begins, who sent Ambassadors to Henry

1525. When the time arrived for Angus to resign his Regency to one of the other Regents he refused, and the Earl of Argyle retired from Court, but the Earl of Lenox, though displeased, still remained at Court, and the Queen and Earl of Arran held intelligence with him (Lennox). (Rapin, i. 765.)

The Earl of Cassilis was sent to England at the head of an embassy to treat of the King's marriage about Jan. 1524-5, and the truce that was to expire 26 Jan. 1524-5 prolonged to 23 March 1524-5, to give the Earl of Cassilis time to return to Scotland for new instructions. (Rapin, i. 765.) (Rymer, xiv. 30.)

1526. The Queen and Earl of Arran's faction attempt to take away the King's person from Earl of Angus. The attempt miscarrying Angus was severely revenged of the persons concerned 1526. (Rapin, i. 768.)

1528. Margaret's marriage with Angus annulled, and married again to Henry Stewart, 1528. Persuades the King, her son, to make his escape from Angus, which the King does accordingly, and retires to Sterling. The King calls a Parliament at Edinburgh 3 Sept. The estates of Angus and the rest of the Douglasses confiscated. A truce for five years was concluded at Berwick between England and Scotland 14 Dec. 1528. The Douglasses retire to England. (Rapin, i. 782.)

1532. Inroads made into Scotland under pretence of restoring the Douglasses. Matters happily adjusted, the King of France sending an Ambassador to Newcastle for mediation 1532. (Rapin, i. 796.)

1533. } The truce concluded between England and Scotland 1 Oct.
1534. } 1533. Turned into a peace 11 May 1534. (Rapin, i. 804.)

1535. Henry VIII. sends a letter to James V. by W. Barlow, Elect Bishop of St. Asaph, and Thomas Holcroft to advise him to renounce the Pope. After this William Lord Howard was sent to propose an interview between himself and James V. The latter refuses the interview; hence a quarrel between the two Kings. (Rapin, i. 808.)

1536. Arrival of James at Dieppe with five ships. See 9 Oct. 1536. (French Cal.)

King of Scotland goes to Paris. Marries Magdalen, daughter of the King of France, in Dec. 1536, and the marriage celebrated 1 Jan. 1536-7. (Rapin, i. 817.)

1537. Magdalen Queen of Scots dies July 1537. (Rapin, i. 818.)

1538. Mary of Lorraine, sister of Duke of Guise and the Cardinal of Lorraine, married to King of Scotland. She comes to Scotland middle of June 1538. (Rapin, i. 818. 821.)

1541. Henry VIII. goes to York to meet King of Scots, who sends an excuse, 1541. (Rapin, i. 830.)

1542. Henry VIII. revives his pretensions to sovereignty of Scotland. Duke of Norfolk enters Scotland 21 Oct. 1542. Ravages the country north of the Tweed, and retires to

1542—cont. Berwick. The King of Scots advances, resolved to give battle; opposed by his nobles. Gives commission to his minion Oliver Sinclair to command the army. The lords refuse to follow him. The army seized with a panic at the sight of 500 English horse placed on a hill to watch their motions. The English seeing their confusion improve the opportunity, and completely rout the Scotch army, and take many of the nobles prisoners, 25 Nov. 1542. A herald sent to the Duke of Norfolk murdered by an English refugee. The King of Scots dies 14 Dec. 1542, five days after the birth of his daughter Mary. Henry immediately set on foot a negotiation to marry his son Edward with the young Queen, sounding the captive lords for that purpose, who had liberty to return to Scotland. (Rapin, i. 833. 834.)

1543. James V. having died 14 Dec. 1542 Cardinal Beaton Archbishop of St. Andrews forges a will, wherein he was declared Regent, with three assistants. The Parliament meets in March 1542–3, and declares the Earl of Arran Regent. Sir R. Sadleyr sent to Scotland to propose the match between Prince Edward and the young Queen. Ambassadors were sent to England (George Douglas, &c.), and two treaties concluded at London 1 July 1543 for peace and the marriage. (Rapin, i. 835. 836.)

Cardinal Beaton and the Queen Dowager get the upper hand and create a war between England and Scotland 1543. Earl of Lenox returns to Scotland from France under promise of marriage to the Queen Dowager. (Rapin, i. 836.)

The Queen was crowned 21 Aug. 1543. (Rapin, i. 837, note 1.)

Arrest of Scotch ships at Camfere. See 27 Jan. 12 Feb. 1543–4, 9 April 1544. (Flan. Cal.)

1544. Expedition from England against Scotland. The Earl of Hertford and Sir John Dudley Lord Lisle, Lord Admiral, appointed for the expedition. Hertford leads the army to Newcastle, where the Admiral arrives with the fleet, in which the troops embarked. Hertford lands near Leith 4 May 1544. Takes Leith and Edinburgh, both of which he burns, and returns to Berwick 18 May 1544. (Rapin, i. 839, and note.)

See an account of the villages that were burnt. (Hall, 258.) (Hollingshed, 963.)

Treaty with Earl of Lenox by Henry VIII. concluded at Carlisle. Commissioners—Earl of Glencairn and Bishop of Cathness, brother of Earl of Lenox, 17 May 1544. English Commissioners—the Lord Wharton and Sir Robert Bowes. (Rapin, i. 839, and note.) (Rymer, xv. 23.)

The Earl of Lenox, in consequence of his treaty with Henry VIII., comes to Dumbritton with 13 ships and 600 men to endeavour to put it in the hands of Henry VIII. Fails; ravages the Isles of Arran, Bute, then makes a descent upon Kintyre, then sails to Bristol, where he expected the return of Henry VIII. from France, 1544. (Rapin, i. 840.)

Henry VIII. sends Lenox to Scotland, who takes Dumfries, 1544. (Rapin, i. 841.)

1545. The war was continued faintly between England and Scotland. The King of France sends Seigneur de Lorge Count of Mongommeri, who lands in Scotland with 5,000 men, 2 July 1545. Joins the Scots. The whole army could never be persuaded to pass the Tweed. Disbanded on news that the Earl of Hertford was advancing against them. (Rapin, i. 842.)

Ferdinand forms a league with Emperor, Duke of Milan, and Switzers, 1515. (Rapin, I. 730.)

SPAIN—continued.

- 1516—cont. Confirmation of ancient treaties concluded at London between England and Spain 19 Oct. 1515. (Rapin, i. 732.) (Rymer, xiii. 520. 528.)
1516. Ferdinand King of Arragon died Feb. 1515–6, by which Charles Sovereign of Low Countries took the title of King of Castile; but those of Arragon refused to give him the title of King of Arragon so long as his mother Johan (though incapable) was alive. Ferdinand left by his will the Regency of Arragon to Alphonso Bishop of Saragossa, his natural son, and that of Castile to Cardinal Ximenes, till Charles should come himself to assume the government. When Ximenes would have assumed the government of Castile, Adrian Florentio, Doctor in Divinity, who managed Prince Charles's affairs in Spain, produces letters patent from Charles his master appointing him Regent of Castile; but Ximenes refuses to acknowledge him as such, Charles not having the power to appoint a Regent before he was received as King or Governor; the contest was adjusted by the expedient that the orders should be signed by both, but the Cardinal left the Dr. the bare name of Regent.
- Charles as Sovereign of Low Countries renews his alliance with England by a treaty concluded at Brussels 24 Feb. 1515–6, just before the death of the King of Arragon. (Rapin, i. 733. 734.)
- Treaty between France and Charles at Noyon 26 Aug. 1516. (Rapin, i. 735.)
- Charles, a party to the Defensive League concluded at London, 29 Oct. 1516 (two months after treaty of Noyon). (Rapin, i. 735.)
1517. Charles King of Castile leaves Low Countries in Aug. 1517 [not till between 4 and 8 Sept. 1517. (Galba, B, v. 316. 321.)] for Spain, and dismisses Ximenes, who died with grief. Charles gives himself up to the Flemings whom he had brought with him, which caused great jealousy to the Spaniards. (Rapin, i. 736.)
1518. Marriage of Lady Eleanor (the King of Spain's sister, Harl. 295. 126.) with King of Portugal. See 12 May, 12 July, 1518. (Harl. 295. 109. 117 b. 121 b.)
1519. Charles King of Spain, Naples, Sovereign of Low Countries, chosen Emperor 28 June 1519. (Rapin, i. 740.)
- Charles V., Emperor, receives the news of the conquest of Mexico and New Spain 1519. (Rapin, i. 742.)
1520. Charles V. comes to Dover 26 May 1520, (conducted to Canterbury by Henry VIII.,) which he leaves on 30 May, and proceeds to Flanders. (Rapin, i. 742.)
- Charles leaves Spain appointing Regents (Bishop of Tortosa and Constable of Castile); comes to Dover 26 May; leaves Canterbury 30 May 1520 for Flanders. (Rapin, i. 742. 743.)
1521. Navarre conquered by the French General Lesparre in a fortnight March 1520–1. Lesparre besieges Logroño, and is defeated and taken prisoner, and the Spaniards re-conquer Navarre in less time than the French had conquered it. (Rapin, i. 745.)

SPAIN—continued.

- 1521—cont. The Emperor enters into a league with the Pope to drive the French out of the Milanese; operations there; campaign in Low Countries; congress at Calais 1521. (Rapin, i. 745. 748.)
1522. The Regent of Spain, Cardinal Adrian Florentino Bishop of Tortosa, elected Pope Jan. 1521-2; did not go to Rome till Midsummer. (Rapin, i. 751.)
The Emperor sets out for Spain and lands at Dover 26 May; leaves England after being made Knight of the Garter 6 July 1522. (Rapin, i. 751-752.)
The Spaniards obliged to raise the siege of Fontarabia 1522. (Rapin, i. 752.)
1523. The Spaniards take Fontarabia from the French 1523. (Rapin, i. 755.)
1525. Francis I. taken prisoner at Pavia 23 Feb. 1524-5; conducted to Spain June 1525, where the Emperor was. (Rapin, i. 759-761.)

Treaty between the Pope and the Emperor at Madrid 1525; the Pope refuses to ratify it, being so ambiguous. (Rapin, i. 762.)
The Emperor, in consequence of the treaty between England and France at Moore 30 Aug. 1525, recalled his Ambassadors from England, and the English Ambassadors were recalled from Spain, 1525. (Rapin, i. 765.)
Mons. de Prat left England 9 April 1525. (Rapin, i. 765, note 7.)
The Emperor marries Isabella of Portugal 1525. (Rapin, i. 765.) 1526. (Anderson, p. 711. 718.)
Isabella was the Emperor's niece. (Rapin, i. 762, 2d col.)
1526. Treaty of Madrid (by which Francis I. obtained his liberty) 14 Jan. 1525-6. Francis I. obtained his liberty in March 1525-6. (Rapin, i. 766.)
League against the Emperor at Cognac May 1526. (Rapin, i. 767.)
1527. Sir Francis Pointz sent to the Emperor in Spain. (Rapin, i. 771.)
Offers of Francis to the Emperor, and the Emperor's answer, July 1527. (Rapin, i. 771.)
1528. Clarenceux and Guienne, Heralds; English and French Heralds declare war against Charles V. in Spain Jan. 1527-8. (Rapin, i. 778.)
The Emperor challenges Francis I., who returns the challenge; this letter was dated 28 March 1528. (Rapin, i. 778.)
Notwithstanding the war with the Emperor, the Governess of Low Countries sends an embassy to England, 29 May 1528, for a truce with Low Countries for eight months, for the mutual benefit of trade; signs the truce 8 June 1528. (Rapin, i. 779, and note 7.)
1529. The Emperor leaves Barcelona and arrives at Genoa with 9,000 men 12 Aug. 1529. (Rapin, i. 786.)
1533. Charles V. embarks at Genoa 8 April 1533 for Spain. (Rapin, i. 797.)

SPAIN—continued.

A Board of Trade was erected in Spain in 1501 at Seville. (Rob. Hist. of America, Book viii. p. 13); but see Book iii. p. 193, where it seems to imply that it was erected about 1507. It takes cognizance of whatever relates to the intercourse of Spain and America; it regulates what commodities should be exported thither, and has the inspection of such as are received in return. It decides concerning the departure of fleets for the West Indies, the freight and burden, their equipment and destination. In the latter capacity it judges with respect to every question, civil, commercial, or criminal, arising in consequence of the transactions of Spain with America; and in both these departments its decisions are exempted from the review of any Court but that of the Council of the Indies, which was first established by King Ferdinand in 1511, and brought into a more perfect form by Charles V. in 1524. This latter council has the supreme government of all the Spanish dominions in America; in it all laws and ordinances relative to the government and police of the colonies are originated, and must be approved by two thirds of the members before they are issued in the name of the King; to it each person employed in America, from the Viceroy downwards, is accountable. This council of the Indies is held in the place where the King resides, as he is always supposed to be present.

The following will show the grants made to Wolsey's son:

MDXL. Dean of Wells. Minutes of Thomas Winter who had resigned the deanery of Wells, and several other dignities, particularly the archdeaconry of York, in 1540. (Wood's Fasti. Oxon, 1673.)

1526. A supplicate was made at Oxford in behalf of one Thomas Winter to be B.A., but whether he was admitted I cannot find. This Thomas Winter, who was nephew (or rather natural son) to Cardinal Thomas Wolsey, had several

1526—cont. dignities conferred upon him before he was of age, by means of the said Cardinal, among which was the archdeaconry of the West Riding of York, on the death of Dr. Hugh Ashton, in which he was installed 31 Aug. 1523, being about that time Chancellor of the Church of Sarum, in the place of one William Wilton.

1525. Dean of Wells in the place of Dr. William Cousyn, sometimes Fellow of King's College. In Jan. 1525, upon the death of Thomas Dalby, he had not only the provostship of Beverley conferred upon him, but also the archdeaconry of Richmond, in which last he was installed the 24th March the same year. This Thomas Winter, with several others, after they had been maintained in the schools at Oxon. by the Cardinal, were also by him maintained in the University of Paris, to obtain, if possible, proficiency in such arts and sciences which our Universities in England could not yield. The governor or tutor to Thomas Winter was Thomas Lyvret of Corpus Christi College in this University, to whom, as also to Winter, the Cardinal would write that the said Winter should study the Dunce's Logick Questions, meaning I suppose the Logick Questions of John Dunse. Sure I am that about the time of the Cardinal's fall he gave up all or most of his dignities, for in Dec. 1529 William Knyght, LL.D., succeeded in the archdeaconry of Richmond, and Edward Lee in the Chancellorship of Sarum in Feb. following, and about 1530 Dr. Richard Wolman succeeded him in the deanery of Wells. As for the archdeaconry of York, he, keeping it till 1540, then resigned it, whereupon Thomas Westly, B.D., was installed thereon 26 June the same year, and whether he continued to be the last Provost of Beverley, in truth I cannot tell, the arms with which he sealed did very much resemble those of Cardinal Wolsey as appears in the Office of Arms.

1525. 9 Jan. Tho. Winter Decanus Weſt presented Robert Nooke, S. I. B., ad vicariam de Wedmore, vac per mort Xtopheri Homeldon.

1527. 5 Dec. Tho. Winter Decan Weſt et Capitulū presentavit Ricardum Austyn ad viā de Murdford. He resigned the deanery of Wells, not in 1530 as Mr. Wood conjectures, but toward the end of 1528.

1526. 12 Nov. D. Epūs Norwiē consulit. Archidia Suffol. vac. per resign. Mağri Johis Dowman, LL.D., in manus Cardinalis Magro Thomo Winter.

1529. Rex omnibus, &c. Sciatis quod cum nos per literas uſas patentes concessimus dilecto nobis Thomæ Wynter, clico custodiam domus sive hospitalis S. Leonardi infra civitatem nostrā Ebor. Qui quidem Thomas literæ pat. predictus in cancellarium nram restituit cancellarū concessimus dilecto et fideli consiliario nostro Thomæ Magnus clerico custodiam domus sive hospitalis Scti Leonardi ad terminum vitæ suæ. (Wolsey, II. 25.)] without prejudice to the benefices he had or should have, 29 July 1520. (Rapin, I. 743. 745.) (Rymer, XIII. 714. 725.)

It appears that Wolsey resigned bishopric of Pace, and the Bishop of Elvas obtained it. See 10 Dec. 1520. (Wolsey, II. 47.)

1521. Bull to enlarge his power as Legate April 1521. (Rapin, I. 748.) (Rymer, XIII. 734. 739.)

Mediator at the Congress of Calais 25 July 1521. See the retinue that attended him. (Rapin, I. 746. 747, and note.)

Wolsey comes to Dover 8 and sails for Calais 20 July. (Rapin, I. 747, and note.)

His commission to treat a stricter alliance and invasion of France with Emperor 29 July 1521. (Germ. Cal.)

Also same date, or 19 July, commission to treat of marriage between Emperor and Princess Mary, daughter of Henry VIII. (Germ. Cal.)

Goes from Calais to the Emperor at Bruges 12 Aug. 1521, and concludes a treaty there with the Emperor against France. He was at Bruges thirteen days; he lands at Dover 27 Nov. 1521. (Rapin, 748, and note.)

Abbey of St. Alban's granted to him in commendam 1521. Aspires to the Popedom 1521. (Rapin, I. 745. 748.)

Disappointed of the Popedom. Cardinal Adrian chosen Jan. 1521-2. (Rapin, I. 751.)

1522. In order to support the war against France without calling a Parliament, he orders a survey or valuation of the lands and property; the warrant is dated 27 March 1522. This was followed by a general loan of the tenth on the lay subjects, and the fourth on the clergy. This made great noise all over the kingdom against the Cardinal. (Rapin, I. 750, and note 8.)

The Emperor being in England on the 8 June 1522, engages to pay him the pension of 12,000 livres or 9,000 crowns of gold de Soleil, which the King of France gave him for the bishopric of Tournay, and on 4 July 1522 the Emperor obliged himself to pay him a pension of 2,500 ducats till the like pension was assigned him upon the vacant churches in Spain, in lieu of that he received out of the bishopric of Badajoz, which the Emperor desired to be discharge. (Rapin, I. 752.) (Rymer, XIII. 769 and 770.)

1523. Obtains bishopric of Durham in lieu of Bath and Wells 24 March 1522-3. (Rapin, I. 753.)

Goes to the convocation assembled at same time as the Parliament 15 April 1523; demands and obtains subsidy of half of their annual revenues. Goes to the Commons; demands 4*s.* in the pound, gets 2*s.*; much mortified at his treatment by the Commons, &c. (Rapin, I. 752. 753.)

WOLSEY, THOMAS—continued.

1523—cont. His Legateship prolonged for five years after the term granted by Leo X. about May 1523. (Rapin, i. 753.)
(See Rymer, xiii.)

Again disappointed of the Popedom, Julio de Medici being chosen under the name of Clement VII. to succeed Adrian VI. 19 Nov. 1523. (Rapin, i. 756.)

1524. Pope Clement VII. by a Bull dated 9 Jan. 1523-4 grants to Wolsey the Legantine power for life. (Rymer, xiv. p. 18.) (Rapin, i. 756.)

He was now at the highest pitch of grandeur that a subject could aspire to. He was Archbishop of York, Bishop of Durham, Abbot of St. Alban's, Cardinal Legate à Latere for life, Chancellor of England, Prime Minister. (Rapin, i. 756.)

Monasteries suppressed to found his college at Oxford [to be called Cardinal College. (Rapin, i. 756.)] &c., 1524. St. Frideswid's Priory, Oxford. (Rymer, xiv. 15.) (Rapin, i. 759.)

Bull granted to him to visit all religious houses; to make a list of such as might be suppressed in order to transfer the revenues to his colleges 21 Aug. 1524. (Rymer, xiv. 18.)

Another Bull to suppress as many monasteries as he pleased to the value of 3,000 ducats a year, Sept. 1524, for the same purpose. (Rymer, xiv. 23.) See the monasteries suppressed 1526. (Rymer, xiv. 155-184.) (Rapin, i. 768, note.)

Sends a proxy to John Lallemand to receive his pensions on bishoprics of Piacenza and Palentino, and granting him an allowance of 200 ducats per annum. See 5 Dec. 1524. (Germ. Cal.)

1525. Commotions near London on account of the tax he levied on the people 1525. (Rapin, i. 763.)

The King enraged. Wolsey appeases him; presents to him Hampton Court 1525. And the King allows Wolsey to live in his palace at Richmond in exchange. (Rapin, i. 764.)

Regent of France grants him his arrears of the pension granted to him in lieu of the administration of bishopric of Tournay, besides 100,000 crowns of gold de Sol, amounting together to 121,891 crowns de Sol. or Soleil, to be paid in seven years, half yearly. Crown de Soleil worth twenty-eight pence Tournois. (Rapin, i. 765, note 6.)

1526. Touching his pension out of Palance and Toledo. See 28 Jan. 1525-6. (Germ. Cal.)

1526. See the monasteries suppressed for his college at Oxford. (Rapin, i. 768, note 2.) (Rymer, xiv. 155. 184.)

See his petitions granted at Rome respecting his college. See 21 Aug. 1526. (Wolsey, viii. Pt. i. 53.)

1527. Wolsey appointed Ambassador Extraordinary to Court of France to treat a marriage between Princess Mary and Duke of Orleans. See June [probably 18] 1527. (French Cal.)

Leaves the Court 3 July, and arrives at Calais 11 July; from thence to Abbeville, and stays till Francis I. comes to Amiens. Francis I. comes to Abbeville 1 Aug. 1527, and concludes three new treaties with Wolsey, which were supplements and explanations of the three treaties of 30 April 1527. The treaties were ratified 18 Aug. 1527 at Amiens, and Wolsey returns to England about end of Sept. 1527. (Rapin, i. 771. 772, and notes 3 and 4.) Wolsey at Boulogne, on his return from his French embassy. See 21 Sept. 1527. (French Cal.)

Sends Gambara to the Pope (then in captivity) to request him to make him his Vicar General in England, France, and Germany, 1527. (Rapin, i. 772, note 4.)

Divorce. His desire to have Henry VIII. divorced 1527. (Rapin, i. 775—778.)

1528. Orders the herald to declare war against the Emperor (Spain), without the King's knowledge, Jan. 1527–8; the King orders this matter to be examined in council; makes his peace with the King. Great noise with the clothiers, their trade being stopped with the Low Countries in consequence of the war. (Rapin, i. 779.)

Monasteries, further suppression of, in 1528, for Wolsey's Colleges. (Rapin, i. 782.) See MONASTERIES.

1529. Becomes Bishop of Winchester 1529, by death of Ric. Fox. (Rapin, i. 782.)

He and Campegio open the Court for the divorce of Queen Catherine 31 May 1529. Allows Campegio to preside, though he was the elder Cardinal. The Queen excepts against him and Campegio as her judges 18 June 1529. (Rapin, i. 783. 784.)

Suspected to have juggled Henry VIII. in the affair of the divorce. (Rapin, i. 783. 784.)

1529. Impeached on 9 Oct. 1529. The Attorney General prefers a Bill of Indictment against him as guilty of breaking the Statute of Præmunire. On 17 Oct. the King sends to him for the Great Seal, at which the Cardinal scrupled, it having been granted to him for life; but delivers it, on a second command, to the Dukes of Norfolk and Suffolk; and the King in a few days gives the Great Seal to Sir Thomas More.

Probably he was indicted, first, 9 Oct. for obtaining several Bills without the King's express licence; and the second time, 18 Oct., for exercising in England the office of Legate à Latere without the King's Letters Patent to that end. However, he was found guilty each time, and declared to be out of the protection of the law. After this, the King granted him his protection, and sent him a ring as a token of his continuance of affection, and left him the archbishopric of York and bishopric of Winchester; but his enemies getting the upper hand, the affair was brought before Parliament, who took a different course than the accusation of the Attorney General. For which see (Rapin, i. 786.)

1530. The King grants him a full pardon 1530, taking away his colleges, and depriving them of his name, and founds them anew. (Rapin, i. 789.)

His enemies, seeing the King's returning friendship, procure an order for him to withdraw to his diocese of York.

WOLSEY—continued.

On his journey thither he stopped at Cawood, about the end of Sept. 1530, till all things were ready for his instalment; but whilst he was preparing to enjoy the remains of authority which he imagined would still be left him, he was arrested by the Earl of Northumberland and Sir Walter Welsh for high treason 4 Nov. 1530; on his way back to London, he died at Leicester Abbey, 30 Nov. 1530. (Rapin, i. 789.) He died 28 Nov. (Burnet.) 29 Nov. (Fiddes.)

ZAPOL, JOHN DE, (EARL OF SEPUS):

Wayvode of Transylvania. (Mézéray, 611.)

On the death of the King of Hungary 1526, both he and Ferdinand of Austria were elected Kings of Hungary. Zapol was protected by Solyman, who caused him to be crowned at Buda, and Ferdinand prepared to assert his rights. (Rapin, I. 768.) He agreed in 1536 with Ferdinand that he (Zapol, the Earl of Sepus) should hold for his life what he possessed with the title of King, but died in 1540 leaving a child. The widow, to maintain her child against Ferdinand, had recourse to the Turk, and the war broke out, which completed the ruin of Hungary. Ferdinand's General, Roquandolf, was defeated near Buda, 1541, by the Bashaw Mahomet, then Solyman himself came treacherously and seized the widow and orphan and the city of Buda, 1541. (Mézéray, 611.)

ZUINGLIUS :

A great supporter of the new doctrines 1519.

One of the Reformers of religion; differs with Luther as to the Eucharist 1523. (Rapin, I. 757.)

Calvin succeeded Zuinglius as opposed to Luther. The party of Zuinglius were called Sacramentarians, those of Luther Ubiquitarians. (Rapin, I. 757, note.)

CABOT, JOHN, AND HIS THREE SONS :

The first patent extant was granted by Henry VII. 5 March 1496 (11 Henry VII.) to John Cabot and his three sons, Lewis, Sebastian, and Sancius.

Second patent in Rolls Chapel, dated 3 Feb. 1498 [1498-9]. (13 Henry VII.)

See a memoir of Sebastian Cabot reviewed in Literary Gazette 2 July 1831. The author's sources of information were from Ric. Eden's Decades of the New World and documents in the Rolls Chapel. Robertson falls into the trap prepared by Hackluyt, and regarded the second patent merely as a final permission for Cabot to depart. It is then manifest that Cabot discovered America fourteen months before Columbus beheld the Continent, and two years before Amerigo Vespucci had been west of the Canaries. (Same reference.)

His maps and discourses written in his own hand, in custody of William Worthington, who was joined with Sebastian Cabot in a pension granted by Philip and Mary, 29 May 1557. (Rymer, xv. 466.) These maps and discourses are lost. See review in Literary Gazette 9 July 1831.
